Whitefish, Thompson Named To Get Cohos

Cohos Alone Won't Make Tourist Boom

State Planting Of Fingerlings Set For Spring

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Cohos alone will not make a successful tourist and resort industry, the Conservation Department has noted in connection with the plantings that have been made and announcement of others.

"Communities that sit back and expect the coho to make the cash registers ring are going to be disappointed," said Cliff Long, Department district fish biologist at Escanaba.

Little Bay de Noc once made justifiable claim to the title "Walleye Capital of the World" because it was the only place where walleyes could be found in the phenomenal numbers that occurred for a few years back in the 1950's.

"But with the cohos there will be many places that will be able to boast of coho fishing, anywhere from 50 to 75 communities competing for the attention of the fishermen," Long explained.

Total Program

Tourists coming north into Michigan will find a number of coho sites to the southward, offering fishing attractions the equal of any that might be found in the northern section of the state.

Little Bay de Noc with its protected waters is an ideal fishing area — but there must also be an area approach in providing the other services and facilities that accompany a recreational development.

Michigan State University and Chambers of Commerce recently sponsored a gathering at Manistiquette to discuss the need for a total tourist program.

The effect of the increased sports fishing activity was explored and questions were raised: Are there facilities for catering to fishermen? What about adequate marinas, launching ramps, motels, restaurants, tackle shops? Will there be programs of recreation that appeal to members of the family as well as the anglers?

Favorable Site

These and other questions will be asked again at the area level in the months ahead — and solutions to problems that exist in the resort industry may be found by cooperative approach.

It will be late April or early May when the fingerling cohos (averaging 5 and 6 inches long) will be brought from hatcheries at Thompson or Marquette for planting in the Whitefish River.

Hopefully the planting will be a success for the Whitefish was selected for its suitability as a production stream as well as its favorable location on Little Bay de Noc.

"The site is an important factor, for it provides a protected fishing ground compared to such exposed shores as at Manistiquette, for example," said Long.

Longer Season

The fishing of cohos will be over an extended period, from summer through fall and even into late fall and winter, Long said. "We look for summer and fall fishing on Little Bay de Noc, followed by fishing on the river itself in September and October and even later. The latest record of coho being taken by anglers was as late as Dec. 27."

The Whitefish River is desirable as a coho stream for additional reasons, including the considerable public frontage (largely state and federal forest lands) along the banks of the river northward from Rapid River.

This factor plus the protection afforded anglers with their boats on Little Bay de Noc should make the area one of the more successful from the viewpoint of the fishermen — but it will still require sound development planning to bring fishing into the total recreational concept, the experts agree.

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Commission has announced plans for planting 1.8 million coho salmon and 850,000 Chinook salmon in 18 Michigan streams this spring.

The plantings of salmon fingerlings are being distributed to provide as much sports fishing as possible along the state's coastal waters.

First massed runs of the salmon planted this spring will not come until the fall of 1969. Some smaller "Jack" salmon, about two or three pounds each, will be legal catches this fall.

Fish planted last spring also will be mature for fall fishermen.

Many Requests

"We have as broad as possible a geographic distribution so the sports fishermen will have some action," said Wayne Tody, chief of the Conservation Department Fish Division.

"We hope to withstand any requests for changes," added Ralph MacMullan, department director. "We hope people will understand there are only so many fish to go around."

All but four of the streams to receive salmon are new to the department's stocking program.

The salmon feed on alewives, a salt water trash fish that has penetrated the Great Lakes and whose carcasses have piled up on beaches and fouled water intake points of coastal cities.

Planting Program

The planting plans for coho salmon:

Lake Superior—Anna River, 175,000; Falls River, 60,000; Ontonagon River, 50,000; Sucker River, 40,000; Cherry Creek, 25,000. A total of 350,000.

Lake Michigan—Platte River,

Plantings

Whitefish River at the head of Little Bay de Noc will receive 100,000 coho salmon and Thompson Creek near Manistiquette 25,000.

250,000; Little Manistee, 75,000; Muskegon, 200,000; Thompson Creek, 25,000; Big Manistee, 150,000; Boardman, 100,000; Whitefish, 100,000; Pere Marquette, 100,000; Bear, 50,000; Boyne, 5,000. A total of 1.1 million.

Lake Huron—Au Sable River, 250,000; Thunders Bay River, 100,000; Carp River, 50,000. A total of 400,000.

Only a few of the rivers planted—the Ontonagon, Muskegon, Big Manistee and Au Sable—are expected to provide major stream runs.

Bay Area Fishing

Most of the fishing is expected to be concentrated along the shorelines and the bay areas of the Great Lakes.

Expected to be prime fishing areas are the Ontonagon area; Keweenaw Bay, Marquette Bay, Munising Bay, the Grand Marais area, Little Bay de Noc, the Manistee area, St. Martin Bay, Little Traverse Bay, the Charlevoix area, Grand Traverse Bay, Platte Bay and the Frankfort area, the Manistee and Arcadia areas, the Ludington area, the Muskegon area down to South Haven and Thunders Bay and Tawas Bay south to Saginaw Bay.

The Chinook salmon releases planned this spring call for 50,000 in the Little Traverse River, 300,000 in the Muskegon River and 50,000 in Cherry Creek, near Marquette.

Smaller Releases

In addition to these larger releases, the department will stock a small number of Chinook in Thunders Bay River under a cooperative study with Alpena Community College.

The Little Manistee and Muskegon, first planted with Chinook last spring, are expected to have runs of "Jack" Chinook this fall. The major runs of the larger salmon species will come on the fall of 1969 off the mouths of these two rivers.

Tody was asked why there was no plant of salmon in the Grand River.

"It was a choice between the Muskegon and the Grand," he said. "If we divided the stock, there would be much more

Open Housing And Crime Curb Lumped

LANSING (AP) — Housing and law enforcement legislation —linked by Gov. George Romney as a necessary combination to prevent civil guerrilla warfare in Michigan—is being presented to lawmakers as a one-two package.

Romney emphasized the connection in his State of the State message Thursday and Republican House and Senate leaders said lawmakers are beginning to see it too.

Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, described elimination of racial discrimination and human injustice by peaceful and orderly changes as "the key issue in the nation's cities today."

"There are citizens organized, trained and armed for violence, riots and civil guerrilla warfare in the nation's cities today," he said.

Hare Not Arming

"They are using the latest methods and means developed in Cuba, China and Southeast Asia" and are "steadily enlisting and securing more recruits."

"On the other hand," he said, "there are those who are arming at an alarming rate to protect themselves and take the law into their own hands."

Passage of a law enforcement program alone would play into the hands of the militant agitators, Romney said.

Housing legislation not only is the focal point of the key issue, it also involves all the wants voiced by racial minorities, Romney said.

"If such legislation is passed, it will strengthen those who seek peaceful, orderly changes," Romney said. "If it is not, it will accelerate the recruitment of revolutionary insurrectionists."

Senate Majority Leader Emil Celler of St. Louis and House Speaker Robert Waldron of Grosse Pointe declined to say when action would be taken on the measures.

"But they will all be covered in a period of a week or two or three," Waldron said.

Although the Republican governor's message dealt with issues ranging from lower court reorganization to a higher minimum wage, the emphasis fell on "a balanced program of greater justice and better law enforcement."

Hancock Menaced By Strike Threat

HANCOCK (AP) — Some 150 hospital workers at St. Joseph Hospital in Houghton have threatened to strike Jan. 24 if new wage demands are not met by the Catholic hospital.

A union spokesman said members of Local 55, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, have voted unanimously to walk out unless the hospital grants higher wages.

The union, which represents nurses aides, orderlies, laundry and kitchen employees, did not specify how much the workers were asking or what their present pay level is.

The hospital maintains it cannot meet the demands since it is a nonprofit institution.

In the area of housing, he called for a statewide open housing law along with increased tenants rights and landlord responsibilities.

Law enforcement proposals included revision of the so-called "Riot Act" to provide a clear, workable definition of unlawful assembly and to make unlawful the failure to disperse upon command.

Also suggested were prohibitions against willful blocking of streets and highways by demonstrators and possession of incendiary devices and creation of a State Police reserve to serve in emergencies.

Although Romney's message drew some criticism from both parties, most legislative leaders, even minority Democrats, indicated guarded approval.

Kuhn called for "stop and frisk" legislation, stiffer penalties for felonies connected with rioting and a state security council—none of which were included in Romney's message.

On the other hand, Negro Rep. Jackie Vaughn, D-Detroit, said Romney stressed crime legislation more than such issues as open housing.

"I will not vote for any crime prevention measures until such time as they (legislators) meet such simple ideas as housing, education and employment," Vaughn said.

NFO Withholds Grain To Gain Higher Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — In asking its members to withhold grains from the market place to gain higher prices the National Farmers Organization is following Johnson administration practice.

The Agriculture Department already is holding government-controlled grain stocks off markets in a bid to boost farmers' prices.

And the NFO action in other ways parallels administration farm marketing and production policies, which call for reducing production when prices are low.

The NFO announced the grain withholding action Thursday. President Oren Lee Staley said in Corn, Iowa, the "no price, no production" campaign would be followed later with withholding of meat, milk and other commodities.

The NFO has conducted six withholding actions previously, the latest last March focusing on milk prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman declined comment Thursday on the NFO action. But in urging last year that grain be withheld from markets he appeared in effect to be giving prior approval to such moves.

"Marketing is something farmers must do largely by themselves and through their farm organizations in cooperatives," he said at that time.

He confined his comments to newsmen Thursday to saying commercial markets had dipped too low as the result of record large crops in 1967.

The Agriculture Department maintains a weapon which is available to farmers for delaying crop sales. It is a price support loan program under which growers may hold grains off the market and obtain substantial loans to help them carry on until final disposition of the crops is decided on.

Gregory Lauds Romney Stand

BOSTON (AP) — Comedian and civil rights spokesman Dick Gregory praised Michigan Gov. George Romney Thursday as being two years ahead of his time on civil rights and probably "the most honest politician today."

Gregory commented at a news conference at Northeastern University on the Republican governor's statement earlier in Boston that civil disorder is the main issue now, and that there will be armed insurrection if whites do not change their view toward Negroes.

Marine Forces Beefed Up To Counter Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marine force in South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces increased to 35,000 men today as another regiment was moved north to meet the threat of North Vietnamese divisions around the demilitarized zone.

Senior Marine officers said there are indications that the Communist troops will concentrate in the provinces of Quang Tri, which fronts the DMZ, and Thua Thien, just below it, in their expected spring offensive in the north.

The shift of the 3,500-man 5th Marine Regiment from an operating area south of Da Nang gives the Marines three more maneuver battalions — which can cover a wide area and aren't tied down in static defensive positions—in Thua Thien. Only two Marine battalions had been operating in the province generally.

The enlarged Marine force, together with about 12,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen, makes the allied and Communist forces in the DMZ theater of war about equal in infantry manpower, according to intelligence reports.

Marine officers in the know said the 5th Marine Regiment was moved north to help provide increased security for shaky lines of communications.

The North Vietnamese have been infiltrating in strength through Laos, cutting through the A Shau Valley 40 miles west of Da Nang into Thua Thien or into the Da Nang area.

Romney Begins N.H. Drive

BULLETIN
CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, acknowledging that the polls show him "well behind" in the New Hampshire primary campaign, challenged former Vice President Richard M. Nixon today to come to the state and debate him.

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney began his presidential primary campaign in frigid New Hampshire today, shaking hands at the gate of an electronics plant as the sun rose.

Hatless in the below-zero cold, Romney greeted workers heading for their jobs at Sanders Associates, Inc., with requests for support in his campaign to upset former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, favored by the polls in New Hampshire's Republican race.

"We've got to get this country back on the track," the GOP governor said, as he clasped the hands and slapped the backs of entering workers.

"We've got to straighten out this mess," he told one man. "We're in trouble."

"It's great to be here and I'm looking forward to the contest," the Michigan governor said.

Between greetings, Romney told reporters he expects to win the March 12 primary despite the polls that show him trailing Nixon.

Even his campaign manager admitted the odds are not good in that contest.

The opponent, Nixon, has not yet announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the White House, and does not plan to begin his New Hampshire campaign until Feb. 3.

Romney's opening day schedule had him on the road for 16 hours. Romney planned to spend 22 of 60 days before the primary, the nation's earliest, hunting for New Hampshire voters.

Campaign sources said the governor's New Hampshire effort would cost at least $250,000.

Romney's own polls rate Nixon a favorite at better than 3-1. But Romney contends he has overcome odds like that before and can do it again.

Romney forces were using a computerized mailing list to contact 130,000 New Hampshire Republicans opening neighborhood campaign headquarters throughout the state, and buying time on 20 radio stations to play a song extolling their candidate.

The song's lines: "We need a man today who's tough enough to do what's right and man enough to pray"

Escanaba Faces Water Problem Even In Winter

Escanaba's municipal water system has sufficient capacity to meet the present need, including unrationed use for watering lawns and gardens in the summertime — but not many people know there are problems associated with the distribution of water in the winter months.

One of the more obvious difficulties occurred with "freeze-ups" during the sub-zero cold wave, reports City Manager George Harvey.

Starting on Dec. 28 and continuing through the recent weekend, the city had some 20 calls for help in thawing frozen water systems. About one-half the requests were from customers whose premises were inadequately heated, causing meters or plumbing to freeze.

"There have been about 12 more calls since then, with about one-half the calls the result of freeze-ups in houses," reported Francis D'Amour, superintendent of the water department.

Looking Ahead

A "thawing crew" is sent out in response to every call. Where the responsibility is that of the water department, no charge is made; where it is the responsibility of the customer, the customer is billed for the service.

There is ever-increasing demand on the city's water pumping, treatment, and distribution system as the community grows — and to meet the needs of the future the city has obtained the services of engineering consultants to recommend a program of water utility development. The city now has a total of 4,478 meters in service.

The consultants, Black & Veatch, have filed their report with the city and it is being examined by the Council and Planning Commission.

Recommended for immediate construction is a new water intake and piping from Little Bay de Noc; plus filter and pumping improvements.

Wells And Tank

Because of the need for planning and the public understanding and acceptance of the improvement program, it is expected that several years will be required to put the development into effect.

The city is improving two deep wells (two of five which were drilled some 20 years ago) to have ready an increased ground water supply in event it is needed. A new and additional 500,000 gallon elevated water storage tank to be located in the city's extreme north side is also proposed to help take care of the city's increasing water needs.

No. 5 well at 3rd Ave. N., and N. 21st St., is now being activated by the city, said D'Amour. The well will be put on standby basis to meet any unusual demand and to augment the pumping capacity of the filter plant, if needed.

D'Amour noted that water from the deep wells also serves another purpose — it helps raise the temperature of water in the distribution system and assists in preventing freezing. Water coming from the treatment plant at Sand Point in winter is about 33 degrees, while the well water is 45 degrees.

Joining at the elevated water storage tank is kept down by the mixture of warmer water from the wells, he said.

Memory Lane Strikes Again

Memory Lane on U. S. 2 and 41 west of Escanaba has again lived up to its reputation as a dangerous section of highway.

State Police reported three accidents in Memory Lane Thursday and early this morning. No injuries were reported, however.

Troopers said Alma Gereau, Rte. 1, Bark River, lost control of her car just west of the Escanaba city limits about 11 a. m., Thursday, ran off the road and struck a tree.

About 2:50 p. m., about a mile west of the city limits, a truck driven by William Salisbury, Ewart, Mich., ran off the road, took down mailboxes owned by Henry Caron and Levi Young, Rte. 1, Escanaba, and tipped over.

Salisbury told officers he lost control of the truck when he felt a strong pull on the wheel. Troopers said the right front tire on the truck tractor blew out.

At 1 a. m., today, Gary Mattson, 25, of Rapid River escaped injury when he lost control of his car about a mile west of the city limits, ran off the road and struck a tree. He was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

Officers said the highway was slippery.

In another accident, two drivers were ticketed for traffic violations. Cars driven by James Quinn, 35, of 1509 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone, and Rudy Marcella, 39, of Rte. 1, Cornell, collided about 3 p. m., on County Road 426 in Escanaba Township, as Marcella started to make a left turn as Quinn was passing.

Marcella was ticketed for making an improper left turn (no signal) and Quinn received a summons for improper passing in a no passing zone.

Stamp Supply Low; Rationed

NEW YORK (AP) — Send more stamps.

That's the cry of postmasters around the nation, faced with long lines of people trying to adjust to the higher postal rates which went into effect Sunday.

An Associated Press survey showed supplies of the new six-cent first class and 10-cent air mail stamps were low in some centers, particularly outside large cities. Many post offices were completely out of penny stamps sought by people who were left with a stock of the old, five-cent kind.

The Denver post office was completely out of one and two-cent stamps. It had enough six and 10-centers to meet the demand, but had only sheets of stamps, not coils.

Things were even worse in Enid, Okla. The post office was all out of ones, twos, threes and sixes and was waiting for an emergency order to ease the situation.

Postmaster John J. Slattery in Waterbury, Conn., put in an emergency order for 50,000 penny stamps added to his regular order of one million one-centers. The post office began selling half-cent stamps after it ran out of the penny ones.

A Norton, Kan., man asked for 1,000 one-cent stamps and had to settle for 15 and a Denver man asked for 300 one-centers and got only three. And the postmaster in Warren, Ohio, had to limit six-centers to 300 per customer.

Polley Proposal:

Ask Extra Cash For Schools In Distress

LANSING (AP) — A program of appropriating state cash to school districts with "super-critical problems" has been proposed by Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction.

Polley said the plan is aimed at taking care of districts with acute financial problems, such as Inkster.

The proposal has been outlined by Polley and Education Board President Edwin Novak to Lt. Gov. William Milliken and members of the Legislature.

Under the proposal, a district could become eligible for an emergency state appropriation if it had an operating millage at least equal to the statewide average, if its state equalized evaluation per member was below $10,000 and if it could not meet current operating expenses.

After a review, the education board could recommend to the governor that the Legislature make an emergency appropriation. A school district accepting the appropriation would be committed to improving its financial condition.

By the end of the next fiscal year, the district would have to be operating a kindergarten through 12th grade program, have an enrollment of at least 2,000 students and have a minimum resident child equalized evaluation of $12,000. If it could not meet the later qualification, it would have to demonstrate it could support education to meet these standards.

If a district could not meet all three requirements, it would have to balance its budget in the next fiscal year or be reorganized by the state reorganization committee.

The district receiving an emergency appropriation also would be required to make monthly financial reports to the state.

Polley said it is hoped the proposal will be the basis for legislation in the current legislative session.

Rudyard Looks To Clay, Bricks To Boost Future

The community of Rudyard, which has depended on the "space age" for its economic existence for the past 15 years, is looking into the ground for its future.

With Kincheloe Air Base scheduled to be phased out in 1970, Rudyard needs industry to replace the trade and employment generated by the base.

It's savior could come from the acres of rich clay which line the banks of the Pine River.

For years, Rudyard bricks were sold by the hundreds of thousands in Chippewa County and surrounding areas, going into such buildings as the Sault Ste. Marie High School and the Manistique Pulp & Paper mill.

Ended In 1937

The last brick venture died in 1937, largely because of a lack of "know-how" and a good, consistent heat source for the kilns, according to Clifford Spencer, Rudyard banker and one of the few men remaining in the community who were connected with the brickyard.

The coming of natural gas to the area this summer, however, has rekindled hopes in the community that the brick industry can be revived.

"We have clay, many square miles of good and pure and rich clay," said Spencer. According to Lou Pensenski, president of the Rudyard Development Corp., Rudyard has a bed of clay more than 200 feet in depth along the course of the Pine River. There are thousands of acres of the clay.

Pipeline Gives Hope

"We have been waiting for a source of heat and this could come when a natural gas pipeline goes through the area next year," said Tom Spencer, insurance man and secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Corp.

Rudyard residents are hoping Spencer is right.

Unless Dickinson County comes up with a $10,000 subsidy by Feb. 1, the county will lose its ambulance service.

Police Work Still Needed

Breathalyzer Test Explained

By DAVE ANDREWS
GLADSTONE — Area police officers were warned by Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas Chapekis and State Police Cpl. Paul Uerling Thursday night that the new breathalyzer unit used in drunk driving cases "does not eliminate police work."

About 20 officers from Escanaba and Gladstone Police Depts., the Delta County Sheriff's Dept., and the State Police post at Gladstone were given a demonstration on use of the instrument by Uerling.

The breathalyzer under Michigan's "implied consent" law is the only test for drunkenness which is mandatory for a person suspected of drunk driving to take.

Chapekis warned, however, that just because the instrument is available it doesn't mean that police officers have the right to stop anyone and require him to take the test.

Need 'Cause'
A police officer still has to have "reasonable cause" to believe a person is driving with impaired senses or driving under the influence of alcohol before he can be forced to submit to the breathalyzer test, Chapekis said.

He indicated, for example, that although an officer may see a person come out of a tavern and have reason to believe he has been drinking, the officer still must observe the person staggering or operating his vehicle in an impaired manner before an arrest can be made.

Chapekis also pointed out that before a person can be ordered to take the breathalyzer test he must be placed under arrest and properly advised of his rights.

Michigan's "implied consent" law went into effect Nov. 2. Since then in Delta County, the breathalyzer test has been used about a half-dozen times in Delta County and on all occasions the motorists suspected of drunk driving have tested beyond the .15 per cent alcohol considered the dividing line between "impaired" and "drunk" driving.

Unit Costs $750
Currently, the State Police Post at Gladstone has the only breathalyzer instrument in Delta County and anyone ordered to take the test must be brought to the post.

The machine is valued at about $750, according to Sgt. W. I. Treichel, post commander.

Three officers at the Gladstone Post — Cpls. Uerling, Albert Gerber and Donald Williams — have taken a 40-hour course at Michigan State University, East Lansing, to qualify to administer the test. At least two officers will be sent to the training school early this year.

Under the law, if a person refuses to take the breathalyzer test he is cited to the Michigan Secretary of State's office. The individual is then notified he has 14 days to appeal to the License Board of Appeals. If he does not do so, his driver's license is automatically suspended for 90 days.

Test Explained
A person brought in to the State Police post to take the breathalyzer test is first required to wait 15 minutes to make sure all traces of alcohol which might influence the instrument have disappeared from his mouth.

Then, the person blows air into a tube which leads into the machine. When the cylinder in the machine is full, a light comes on indicating readiness to analyze.

In the analysis process, the air is bubbled through a vial containing a yellow solution of sulfuric acid and potassium dichromate. As the air bubbles through the solution, alcohol in the air will burn up the potassium dichromate in the solution, changing its color.

A reading on the amount of alcohol in a person's bloodstream is given electronically by the machine through comparison of the amount of light which passes through the test vial compared with that passing through another unopened vial.

Uerling explained that several vials from each carton are analyzed by the State Crime Laboratory to guarantee uniformity and also the breathalyzer instrument is "balanced" before a test is taken to insure correct readings. He also pointed out that the air cylinder and tube is pumped clear before a test is taken to guarantee accuracy.

Could Save Life
Although there are other substances that will register positively on the machine, a police officer by smelling a person's breath should be able to tell whether or not it is alcohol, Uerling pointed out.

He also pointed out that in the case of a diabetic, the breathalyzer could save someone's life.

A person just about ready to lapse into a diabetic coma behaves very much like a drunk, Uerling said. If the test is administered to this person nothing will register on the machine and the officer would know to get the individual to a hospital as quickly as possible.

Chapekis said that the legal implications of the machine have not yet been tested in courts. He urged all officers to continue to use correct law enforcement practices.

Oeming Will Head State Delegation In Pollution Meet

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will join Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana at a conference on Lake Michigan pollution Jan. 31 at Chicago.

Purpose of the conference is to determine whether lake pollution is occurring that is subject to abatement under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, the adequacy of abatement measures being taken and the nature of abatement delays, if any.

The conference was called by Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall.

The Michigan delegation will be headed by Loring Oeming, secretary of the State Water Resources Commission.

Man Charged In Timber Case

Jerome DeBacker, 43, of Rte. 1, Cornell, was arrested by State Police Thursday and lodged in the Marquette County jail pending arraignment in Marquette today on a charge of illegal cutting and removing of timber.

State Police said a "considerable amount" of timber (large hardwood logs) was taken from property in Wells Township, Marquette County, owned by Robert Dagenais, Rte. 1, Escanaba.

Police Fail In Implied Consent Enforcing: Hare

LANSING (AP) — The failure of police to appear to testify is thwarting prosecutions in Michigan's new implied consent law aimed at punishing drinking drivers, Secretary of State James Hare reports.

Hare said six cases in Detroit involving drivers who refused to take sobriety tests had to be dismissed this week when the police officers involved failed to show up and offer testimony before license appeal boards.

Hare said the Detroit, Warren, Southfield, Mount Clemens and Farmington police departments were involved.

"Police officers also failed to appear in several out-state area hearings," Hare said. "The problems appear rather widespread."

The hearings were to decide whether the Department of State should suspend or revoke the licenses of the drivers for failure to consent to a test for intoxication. The drivers still must appear in court on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Hare said the License Appeal Boards can subpoena police to appear. This would mean paying expenses and witness fees, he said, and would increase the expense of administering the new law.

Michigan's 'Partners' Will Tour Belize In February

In February, 1966, at the invitation of Gov. Romney, over 100 Michigan citizens met in Lansing to form a partnership between Michigan and English-speaking British Honduras, soon to be the new nation called Belize. Michigan was the 31st state to form such a partnership with an area in Latin America.

In the past two years many activities have been developed covering the fields of education, agriculture, public health, cultural affairs, research, business, and tourism. One of the most successful projects was an investment conference held in Lansing in March, 1967. At that time a delegation headed by Premier George Price came to Michigan, spoke to the Legislature and the conference, then toured the state.

At the time of the premier's visit he invited Governor Romney and the Michigan Partners to visit Belize early in February, 1968. Over 30 Michigan citizens have responded to this invitation and will travel to Belize Feb. 3, returning Feb. 11.

The week in the Partner country will be spent sightseeing, visiting business and agricultural projects and participating in a two day conference.

The conference will thoroughly discuss investment opportunities, and will hear from top government officials and successful business developers. The economic climate as well as tax concessions will be explained to prospective investors.

There will be many interesting sights for the Michigan travelers to see in British Honduras (Belize). A new capital is being built 40 miles inland on higher land; in this area is an experimental agriculture station and some of the finest agricultural developments anywhere in Central America. To the north is a $50 million investment in two sugar mills, and in all parts of the country there are Mayan ruins — all but a few unexcavated.

For those who like sports, just a mile off the coastline lies the second longest barrier reef in the world. There is smooth, clear water for fishing, swimming and boating, and hundreds of cays (islands) with sandy beaches await the tourist.

Everyone is welcome to join the group traveling to Belize.

Romney's Message

Governor Romney's message to the Legislature called for:

- Open housing legislation.
- More school aid.
- More state aid to local governments.
- A state minimum wage higher than the present $1.25.
- Veterans homestead tax exemptions scaled to veterans' disabilities.
- Revision of the anti-riot acts to define and prescribe unlawful assembly.
- Revision of the criminal code.

There was also call for more support of the Civil Rights Commission and other causes.

The reaction to the message at Lansing was mixed. The Associated Press said that most legislative leaders, even minority Democrats, indicated guarded approval of the Governor's message. It must be hoped that the AP misquoted Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) who said "He didn't mention one word about our deer herd!"

If the Upper Peninsula's greatest problem were its deer herd, we could dispense with legislators. Elsewhere there was more understanding and less politics. House Democratic Leader William Ryan said Romney's message was well balanced between crime and social legislation.

The temper of the Legislature appears to favor tougher laws on control of rioting and crime in general. The view of the problem is enormously different in Detroit and in the Upper Peninsula. Whites in large cities downstate live in fear, and so do Negroes, who create some of the whites' fears.

It will be much easier to get the Legislature to vote revision of the crime code than Governor Romney calls for and to revise the riot act than it will be to get it to implement a program that will work to reduce our increasing criminality.

The riots of last summer in Detroit are in legislators' minds as they seek means to prevent their recurrence. They are on a fool's errand if they think that policing alone will do it. Much has been made of the failure of the Detroit city police and the Michigan National Guard to put down the Negro riots with strong arm methods and gunfire.

But there will never be a real solution by that means. In a country with more than 20 million Negroes there must be a better way to minority order than police muscle.

The problem comes to public attention symbolically in the call for open housing laws. These would prohibit the refusal to sell property because the purchaser was unacceptable because of color, race or religion.

Such laws would be difficult to enforce. They scare the dickens out of people who have their life savings invested in a residence in a neighborhood that Negroes want to buy into, but practically, America must make up its mind whether it is a truth or a pretension when we talk about Americans being free and equal.

"It is time," suggests Governor Romney "to declare ourselves for basic justice and human dignity in the housing field."

The acceptance of such a standard in human relationships calls for a high degree of enlightenment. Only when people understand that their safety and freedom and right of individualism rests heavily upon the extension of those same rights to other persons will there be a hope for such blessings. Even education is not a surefire guarantee of ethical citizenship.

Some people who know better do some poor things. Knowledge only flowers in citizenship when it is moral. There's a belief (among the poor, at least) that it's easier to be moral if you're rich.

Education is the basic solution to our riots and the other problems of criminality.

The acknowledgment of this belief is to be seen in Michigan's current effort to broaden educational opportunity, to reduce student drop-out, to keep students in school longer, to retrain adults, to create much greater equality of educational opportunity. This can be done, but it cannot be done easily. It will cost a heck of a lot of money and education is already very expensive as viewed by most taxpayers.

It simply isn't enough to open the doors of high school and community colleges to Negroes and other disadvantaged persons who cannot do the work offered. There is need for much more honesty of educational opportunity.

The issue before the Legislature is not whether it shall authorize the police to use new methods to control crime and public disorders, or whether it should work to prevent such crimes. It should do both. But the great strong accent should be on prevention and not policing.

This brings the Legislature — and the public which it serves — to a decision whether it wants to pay for such a program of crime prevention through education. It is improper to describe the benefits of schooling in such narrow dimensions as crime prevention. What we're talking about here is a citizenship of high quality — the "Great Society" which was proposed by the Johnson Administration, but which has been so elusive.

The decision in this very important domestic issue is whether to spend enough tax money to create an effective program of citizenship training in the schools for everyone. We're spending much more than it would cost in the war in Vietnam for a result which is in open dispute even in America and not quibbling about it.

Letters To The Press

WAR

In the past week or so, we have seen evidence of a possible change in Hanoi's attitude toward negotiations to end the Vietnam war. Whereas, they have previously said that negotiations could result from an unconditional halt in the bombing, they now say that negotiations would result if the bombing and other acts of war are stopped. This change of one word could bring about a major breakthrough in our efforts to achieve an honorable peace settlement.

There exists, however, the possibility that this supposed change of attitude may be merely an effort to increase world pressure to force the United States to halt the bombing. If they can make the neutralist countries and our European allies believe that the only barrier to negotiations is our refusal to stop bombing, then, indeed, the pressure to stop will be much greater.

In effect, we must be sure that this "change of heart" is not another propaganda gimmick before we agree to any cessation. We must extract guarantees that negotiations will begin immediately after a cessation in the bombing.

This does not mean that we should not pursue any and every avenue toward an honorable peace settlement. Hopefully, this latest "peace feeler" is being thoroughly investigated at this moment.

THE RUINS OF Rainbow Lodge protrude from the snow after destruction of the hunting camp by fire on Dec. 15. More than 70 years old, the log cabin was built by Julius Brown, who homesteaded the land, about 1880. (Daily Press Photo)

Kuse's Camp Burns

And Memories Stir

By JEAN WORTH

CEDAR RIVER — Rainbow Lodge has burned and a landmark is gone from the Devil's Creek country.

It was called Rainbow Lodge because of its roof. One of the owners of the camp, Tom Irish of Escanaba, is a roofing materials salesman and he supplied samples for the re-roofing of the building and it emerged like Joseph's Coat of Many Colors.

Everyone up that way called it Rainbow Lodge after the roofing bee with the samples, but it wasn't the kind of a rainbow that would make nature envious. It lacked color harmony.

But then, people don't get upset by such little things in the Devil's Creek country. A favorite quip of the unimaginative was "There are Angles in Devil's Creek." They had to bend Adolph Engel's name a bit to make it fit the joke but they tried it.

Exotic roofs weren't commonplace, but there were others. Fete Thoun's Pleasant Hill Pavilion at Belknap was a fancy roof, too, on the inside and unintentional.

I was attending a dance there one night with Johnny Nesbitt and he said: "Have you noticed the roof?" I hadn't so I looked and it was uniform for about a third of the ceiling and then it became a crazy quilt.

"I was at the raising bee," said Nesbitt "and Pete entertained us. He only had the roofing lumber surfaced one side and you can see where he brought in the whisky to treat the boys. After that they didn't pay any attention to the surfaced side, either side would do."

The Rainbow Lodge burned on the evening of Friday, Dec. 15 and its owners, Irish, Bob Turner, Merle Bentley and Ed Boucher, think that the fire was incendiary because the ruins showed that someone had moved furnishings around inside after they had left it.

The log cabin was 70 years old or more. It was standing there in 1899 when Milton Brown was born, because he was born in it, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Brown. Brown built the cabin not long before then. He was one of the most colorful, venturesome, pixilated men of his time in the Devil's Creek area and there were some dillies.

Brown was born in Oslo, Norway (Christiania then) on Oct. 24, 1856 and he came to the United States in 1872 when he was 16 years old. His name was Julius Nelson but when he came to America he said that there were too many Nelsons here and he changed it to Brown. This is the explanation of his son, Ira Brown, but the late Jim Deacon of Devil's Creek said he changed it because he had a brother he didn't like and he didn't want to have the same name.

He had lived on a farm in the Old Country and he went lumberjacking in America between Menominee and Crystal Falls and he put in 42 springs log driving, which is a frigid preparation for river hog immortality. He built his cabin beside the Big Cedar River about 1880, Ira Brown believes and he lived there until about 1900 when he moved across the river and homesteaded five forties. (The usual bundle was four, but that's the story and most anything could happen in those times!) He put up farm buildings and cleared a farm on Devil's Creek and raised potatoes, corn and buckwheat.

The Browns ate the potatoes and they hauled the corn and buckwheat to Stephenson for milling and the miller took half of it for the grinding. "We ate a lot of buckwheat pancakes," said Ira Brown.

It was on this farm that his bull attacked Brown in 1918. "The bull tackled my sister Myrtle," said Ira "and my Dad went after the bull with a pitchfork and at the top of the hill the bull turned on him and got my Dad down between two hemlock logs. He lost the pitchfork and the bull was bunting at him, but the logs protected him some.

"I was 9 years old. I ran home and got the .38-55. I could hardly carry it, but I shot the bull. I shot him in the jaw and the second time I shot him in the guts and he ran and I shot him again and hit him in the stomach. The bull didn't die but he was mixed up inside and two weeks later we sold him to a cattle buyer.

"The bull got mad and between our farm and Cedar River he tipped the truck over. He weighed 1,650 and they shot him in the truck. They hauled him to the packing house. His name was Bright and he was a Holstein.

"My dad had all his ribs on one side broken and blood was coming out of his ears. He was so crushed they didn't set the bones. One arm always was on the bum after that, and his shoulder hung.

"The Old Man was never sick a day in his life. A horse kicked him and broke five ribs in a logging camp and he walked five miles with a sack around him holding in his broken bones.

"He was husky in his day, but not tall. He was married only once, but my mother was married twice. She had three children by her first marriage. She was born in Sweden and they were married in his camp by the Cedar River, the one my father built when he homesteaded the place. I think she went up there to cook for Old Frank Strauss and my Dad when they were jobbing together.

"He had a voice on him the bull could hear him for three miles. To Ellsworth Peterson's was two and a half miles and he'd yell 'Bright' and the bull would hear him and he'd come home. We had a horse, a stallion named King, and the Old Man would call him and he'd come to the porch and get pancakes."

Johnny Nesbitt said that Old Brown was the greatest screamer in the Cedar River area. It's a form of expression that has gone out of style with electronic media, but in 1900 it was a means of informing someone in the next township of your presence if you had lungpower and good larynx gasketry.

Brown would threaten Marquette Police Chief Frank Dalton with "I feel like letting out a little yell," and Dalton would say "Try it and I'll run you in."

He tormented Roaring Frank Donnelly, the river drive boss, with his screaming, and Donnelly would cuss him out and say: "You're like a crow; more gab than guts."

When Brown first asked Frank Jerue for work on the Big Cedar River drive, Jerue turned him down, saying that they'd just drowned two homesteaders the week before and that he didn't want any more farmers trying to ride logs.

With that Brown picked up his pitchfork, jumped on an eight foot tiecut and rode across the flooding Cedar. (To appreciate the feat you have to know how difficult it is to ride a tiecut under any conditions.)

He became a famed water man and he provided the entertainment at the Little Cedar River dam of the Andrews Mill at Talbot one Fourth of July by riding through the sluice on a barrel without corked shoes. He boasted that he could lie down on a log and drink without getting wet and he could do it.

"The Old Man used to handle dynamite," said Ira. "He used to bite the dynamite caps with his teeth to crimp them. He put a charge in a pine stump near our house once and it went off the next morning, but people used to say 'Nobody can dynamite like Old Brown!' He used dynamite on road work and cleared up our whole farm with dynamite."

"When the Old Man quit farming he went to work for the Crawford at Cedar River. He was a justice of the peace, too, and he worked on the road. When we burned out there in 1930 we lost everything and we moved to Menominee. When he died he was 93 and he baked his own bread until two years before he died. He loved salt pork and pancakes. He'd feed pancakes to the birds."

Tony Kuse, who ran the American House at Cedar River for so many years, acquired the Brown cabin after it had fallen into disuse and re-roofed it and fitted it for a hunting camp. His partners eventually bought him out, but around Devil's Creek some people still call it Kuse's Camp. Hardly anyone, however, remembers when it was Julius Brown's.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the Files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 Years Ago

This week, the Escanaba Daily Press's roving camera reporter asked people at random when they thought the war would end. Out of five questioned, three men felt for sure that the war would be finished by the end of this year; a young woman thought three months would be ample time and another woman claimed it would be over by next January, at the earliest. All five thought that the Germans would soon be taken care of, and the Americans could then concentrate and finish with the Japanese.

50 Years Ago

Coin collectors and specialists in Escanaba and Gladstone seem to be running a contest to see who can come up with the most ancient coin. The latest discovery is a 1731 English half-penny bearing the inscription "Georgius 11 Rex" on one side, and the date and the word "Britannia" are on the reverse side. The half-penny is owned by Lawrence Hawkins of 2008 Langley St. The coin was a gift to him from his father, who had received it from an English ancestor.

Ever so often we are asked if it is possible for an expert to recognize a sure squeeze as soon as he sees the dummy. The answer is a resounding NO, but we have seen slams claimed on a squeeze as soon as third hand plays to the first trick.

Here is one that we, or at least the older half of us, remember from the first days of contract. Oswald Jacoby was North, and when the late Ely Culbertson was able to bid three no-trump over East's three club preempt, Oswald raised the Professor (Ely was called that and deservedly so) to six no-trump.

West opened the queen of hearts. Ely looked over dummy carefully and played the deuce. East discarded a club whereupon Ely spread his and said, "Six on a squeeze."

Needless to say, the opponents objected but Ely proceeded to make the hand as advertised. He started by dropping a low heart from his own hand. This is what is known today as rectifying the count. He had 11 top tricks and needed 12, so he lost one trick right off the bat.

West led a second heart. Ely won that in dummy and ran off four diamond tricks. He discarded a spade and a club from his own hand. Then he cashed the king and ace of clubs and king of hearts. This left dummy with four spades it had started with, while Ely held two spades, a low heart and a low club.

He turned to West and said "You still hold a heart. You can't have more than three spades." He turned to East and said, "You still have a club. You can't have more than three spades."

Then he turned to the assembled audience and said, "The spades are all good. Six on a squeeze — just as I announced at trick one."

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
2♣	Pass	Pass	2 N.T.
Pass	3♣	Pass	4♦
Pass	4♥	Pass	4♠
Pass	5♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ 2 ♥ J 4 ♦ K 10 9 5 4 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3

What do you do now?

A—Bid six diamonds. Your partner has clearly shown that he has diamonds, hearts and spades so that he can't have two club losers. You have shown nothing but that you do have diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding three spades, your partner bids three hearts over your two no-trump. What do you do now?

FRENCH CRAVAT

The cravat, as a term for a man's necktie, was originated by the French in the reign of Louis XIV to describe the neck scarf worn by the Croatian soldiers enlisted in the Royal Croatian regiment.

Ann Landers

Free Love Believer

Getting 'Experience'

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school girl who believes in free love. Please print my letter because there are plenty more like me and our side doesn't get very much coverage.

I am not a tramp. I come from a high class family and I make good grades. I see nothing wrong with sleeping with different boys so long as I like them and they like me—as a person I mean.

Virginity is an old-fashioned idea that makes no sense any more. Why should a girl save herself for a man who is not making any great effort to save himself for her? In our social group I don't know of a single guy who has done much of a preservation job.

Sex is an important part of marriage and I want to be the perfect wife. I feel that the practice I am getting now will be very useful when Mr. Right comes along. So you see, there ARE some logical and sensible arguments against virginity. And if you are fair, as you claim to be, you will print my letter.—MISS HONEST

Dear Miss: If you are sleeping around so you will be experienced for Mr. Right, you can stop now. Mr. Right will not view your list of bed partners as impressive credentials. In fact, he might get the idea that you are a bit of an alley cat.

I don't deceive myself into believing my advice will cut any mustard with you, Toots, but for the girls who have not yet lost The Great Debate, I'd like to say this: Insofar as sex is concerned, practice does NOT make perfect. It does make juicy conversation in locker rooms and, of course, it can also make babies.

Dear Ann Landers: I read recently that a state school for mentally retarded children in Boston has accepted 300 pairs of old shoes from someone who had been saving them for 30 years. The shoe saver received wide acclaim for his "thriftiness and generosity."

The whole thing made me sick to my stomach. Old misshapen shoes can ruin a person's feet for the rest of his life. Many retarded children cannot speak well enough to let another person know what is bothering them.

I would like to pose a question to the fine citizens of Bos-

Altrusa Members Hear Career Descriptions

The Altrusa Club at its regular monthly meeting held this week at the Stone House heard interesting career descriptions from three of its newer members.

Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, president, served as program chairman and presented Mrs. Bette Beck, who discussed her position as high school counselor; Mrs. Leona Wood, audiologist, who told of her work with the hard of hearing; and Mrs. Lynn George who described cosmetology as a career.

Members also voted to continue scholarship aid to Bay de Noc Community College and to assist financially a local school milk program.

Altrusa International, of which the local chapter is a unit, is in the process of celebrating the golden anniversary of its founding and Mrs. Alice Fawcett and Mrs. Melba Coan presented facts on the first club founded in 1917 in Nashville, Tenn.

In a day when it was not considered correct for women to work, the first Altrusa Club had on its roster, insurance executives, a bicycle shop owner, an osteopath, a tea-room operator, a florist, a draftsman, an editorialist, a banker and a railroad executive.

Under separate classifications of careers membership in the local chapter is held by Mrs. Bette Beck, Mrs. Dudley Beck, Mrs. Marina Chapekis, Mrs. Vera Clairmont, Mrs. Melba Coan, Mrs. Catherine Danielson, Miss Leona Dougherty, Mrs. Alice Fawcett, Miss Eva Flemstrom, Mrs. Mae Frenn, Mrs. Claire Garrard, Mrs. Lynn George.

Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, Mrs. Betty Goulais, Mrs. Meridith Kamerer, Miss Tyne Kangas, Miss Grace McColl, Mrs. Caroline Nystrom, Mrs. Mary Nardi, Mrs. Catherine Nichol, Mrs. Mabel Oslund, Miss Marie Peters, Mrs. Della Peterson, Mrs. Elsie Peterson, Miss Camille Rabitoy, Mrs. Virginia Rusch, Miss Delores Samson, Mrs. Ellen Sviland, Mrs. Geraldine VanEckvort and Mrs. Leona Wood.

Michigan Girl Tours Britain The Hard Way

DUMFRIES, Scotland (AP)—Corla Mosseller of Battle Creek, Mich., is seeing Britain the hard way — touring its highways and byways alone in a horse-drawn gypsy caravan.

And what she has seen has impressed her with "the British way of life." "In fact," said the 28-year-old Corla, "I like it so much that I'm considering staying permanently in this country and applying for British citizenship."

Corla, a horse - breaker and riding instructor, got the idea for her one - horse - power trip while holidaying with friends in Totnes, Devonshire, in southwest England.

She bought a farm cart, had it converted into a small caravan, then bought a 7-year-old brown and white horse called Punch to pull it.

Already she has completed almost 800 miles in just over eight weeks and still has more than twice that distance to cover.

Her journey took her through Devon and Somerset, over the Cotswold Hills, then to the east coast of England. Thence she continued north and over the border into Scotland.

She arrived at a friend's home in the little village of Carruthers, Dumfriesshire, in time for Christmas.

"I'm enjoying a few days' rest here," Corla said. "Then I intend to continue my journey through Scotland, using Punch as a pack horse. I will not take the caravan because some of the roads in the Highlands are a bit rough."

"Afterward I hope to go to Ireland, too."

'Charcoal' Cooks Can Move Inside With New Units

New developments to literally "clear the air" of broiling problems have brought "charcoal" cooking inside from backyard Bar-B-Q pits.

Smoke and a messy grill are probably the two biggest drawbacks to indoor barbecuing, but at least one new Bar-B-Q unit for kitchen installation has solved both problems.

A self-vent at the unit's surface draws smoke and odors outdoors without the need of a hood. In addition, the unit burns itself clean after broiling. A griddle fits over the grids to confine the heat and then self cleaning takes place with a turn of the switch.

Does it broil well? Manufacturers consider it the best kind of broiling. Permanent marble briquets go onto a rack under the meat and drippings from the meat generate the smoky flavor.

One advantage cited to the electric unit is that it allows exact temperature control.

Story Time On Saturday

All boys and girls of the age of three and above are invited to attend Story Time, this week. The program will be held at 10 a. m., Saturday in the Children's Room of Escanaba Public Library.

The stories will be: "Big Bad Bear," "Cannonball Simp," and "Mommy, Buy Me a China Doll."

Mrs. Michael F. Moran (Joe Grondine Photo)

Jayne M. Shesky Bride Of Michael F. Moran

St. Francis Xavier Church in Spaulding was the setting Saturday, Dec. 30 for the wedding of Miss Jayne Marie Shesky of Spaulding and Michael Frederick Moran of Carney.

Rev. A. Ehlinger officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial mass at 2 p.m. Altar boys for the service were William Shesky, brother of the bride and James Smith, a cousin of the bridegroom. Red poinsettia plants adorned the altar for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zigmund Shesky of Spaulding and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Verne Moran of Carney.

Organza Gown
The bride chose for her wedding a floor length sheath style gown of organza fashioned with a scoop neckline accented with pearl and bead trim and long tapered sleeves.

Her three tiered veil of imported silk illusion was held by a cluster of organza petals with pearl trim and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white carnations with trailing ivy.

Barbara Smith of Powers, a cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Penny Rae Hawrylow of Spaulding.

They were attired in floor length Empire gowns styled with scoop necklines and wrist length bell sleeves. The maid of honor wore holly green velvet and the bridesmaid, Christmas red velvet. Matching velvet rose headpieces held their blusher veils and they carried white fur muffs accented with a red poinsettia.

Serving as bestman for his brother was Timothy Moran of Carney and groomsmen were Curtis Donaldson of Stephenson. Seating the guests were Allen Marana of Hermansville and Robert Macco of Carney.

Mothers' Attire
For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Shesky wore a winter white sheath costume with rose colored accessories and she was presented a corsage of red and white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Moran chose a royal blue knit ensemble with matching accessories and was presented a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The reception for 100 guests was held at the Robert Smith home in Powers from 5 until 9 p.m. Assisting were Marilyn Shesky, Patti Smith and Renee Shesky.

Following a wedding trip through northern Wisconsin, the newlyweds will reside in Carney, Mich.

The bride is a graduate of Powers-Spaulding High School and attended St. Joseph's School of Nursing, Hancock. She is presently employed as a secretary at the Carney-Nadeau School. Mr. Moran is a graduate of Carney-Nadeau High School and is presently attending Northern Michigan University.

Common Cold Germ Attack More Women

Chances are good that you have a cold right now, or will catch one within the next week or so.

Most people have four or five a year, with the entire U.S. population suffering nearly a billion colds annually.

While no statistics are available, it appears that women are more vulnerable to cold germs than men, perhaps because they are in closer contact with infected children. School-age children experience twice as many colds as adults, with the high level being reached in the 25-35 age group and declining steadily to a minimum among those over 55.

Anyone suffering the common cold miseries will certainly want to know why we don't have a vaccine to give complete protection against this universal ailment. Will we ever have one.

Optimistic

Medical scientists are optimistic, and they point to recent scientific accomplishments in rhinovirus research as evidence that progress is being made.

According to Dr. Christopher H. Andrews, formerly head of the Common Cold Research Unit, in England, the real problem is that a large number of viruses can cause what we call a cold, and a universally effective vaccine would have to give immunity to all. On the other hand, a vaccine may not be the ultimate answer.

Speaking at a symposium on infectious diseases in Philadelphia, Dr. Andrews said: "Some people never get colds. Why? Some people go a whole year without a cold. Why? Lots of people go through a whole summer without a cold. Why? There are things like this to find out about and if we knew the answers we might decide that an attempt to find a vaccine was by no means the best approach."

According to a recent survey people in cities have slightly fewer colds than people in small towns. If you live on either the East or West Coasts, you're likely to be below the national average, cold-wise. Farmers, it seems, are most susceptible.

Light Diet

Among the most widely accepted misconceptions about treating the common cold is the rule-of-thumb that one should "feed a cold and starve a fever." Actually, most physicians recommend a normal or light diet for patients with a cold or fever.

Can you escape a cold by going to a warm climate? There's no proof of this; people in Florida catch colds, just as they do in the heat of summer up North. Also, Eskimos of Greenland, one of the coldest lands on earth, suffer few colds in winter. But when spring comes and they begin to mingle with outsiders, the common cold breaks out.

Colds may prevail in the winter because people's habits alter; they associate more closely indoors and close windows which can facilitate transmission of infection. Says Dr. Andrews: "Respiratory infections are probably air-borne and certain viruses could perhaps survive longer in the air under winter conditions."

Grandma's Remedy

Until we have an absolutely effective prevention for the common cold, what can you do when one strikes? The American Medical Association has advised: "Actually, grandma's home therapy is still good. If you get a cold, stay home in bed. Keep warm. Gargle to ease a sore throat. Take aspirin for the discomfort. None of this will cure the cold, but it will make you feel somewhat more comfortable while your body's natural defense mechanisms are building up enough steam to overcome the cold virus."

Dr. Andrews, perhaps the world's leading authority on the common cold, prescribes: "Aspirin will make many people less uncomfortable. If you have a minimal amount of fever it is better to go to bed to conserve your energy by keeping warm. If you have no fever and do not get cold in the process, a little fresh air and exercise will probably do more good than harm."

A common cold has a natural course of five to 14 days and usually must wear itself out. While every cold should not be taken to a doctor, one that persists, or causes other unusual symptoms, should receive medical attention.

Mrs. Gregory Rominski

Kathleene M. Andrews, Gregory Rominski Wed

Miss Kathleene M. Andrews of Berkley, Mich., and Gregory J. Rominski of Detroit exchanged wedding vows during a ceremony performed at 6 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 29 at Our Lady of LaSalette Church in Berkley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Andrews of Berkley and granddaughter of Mrs. James Tatrow of Garden. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Rominski of Detroit.

White Mink Train
The bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight peau de soie accented with white mink at the neckline and low squared back. The gown was styled with long sleeves and a detachable full length train.

An orange blossom crown of iridescent pearl that had been worn by her mother held her bouffant silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and holly.

Maid of honor for her sister was Margaret Andrews and bridesmaids were Lorraine Rominski of Detroit and Theresa Thennes of Gladstone was the bridesmaid. They wore moss green and ruby red velvet gowns with white fur trim. White fur pillboxes with circlet veils completed their attire and they carried white fur muffs with red rose and holly trim.

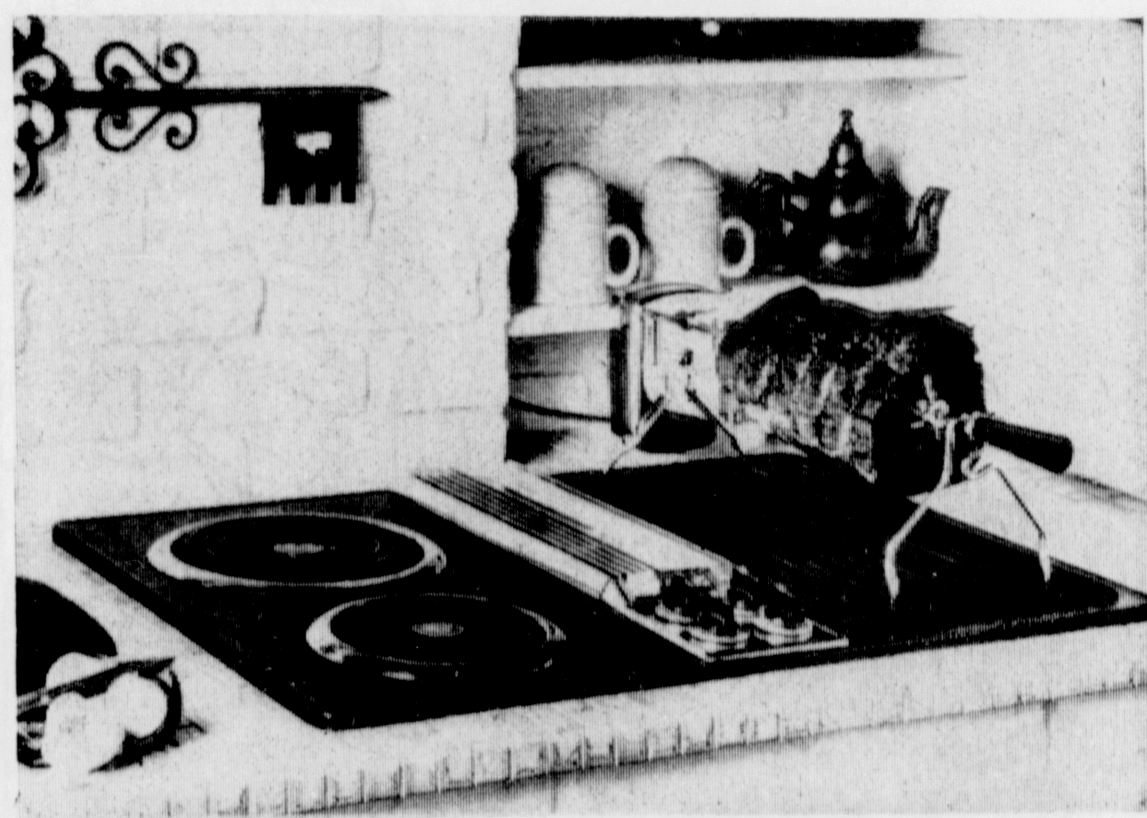

James A. Roof, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man and seating the guests were Thomas DeMartin and James Moskal.

Reception
Following the wedding the reception took the form of a formal sit down dinner at St. Clement's Hall in Dearborn.

When the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Canada, the bride wore a pale blue coat trimmed in ranch mink with a matching mink hat.

Upon their return they will reside in Plymouth, Mich. The bride is a special education teacher at the Wayne County Child Development Center and Mr. Rominski is majoring in biology at Eastern Michigan University.

Menominee Opposes U.P. Change To Eastern Time

By The Associated Press
 "The people of Michigan's Upper Peninsula are extremely unhappy with Central Standard Time."

"We certainly don't want our time zone changed and we've never said that we do."

These two widely differing statements sum up the continuing controversy over time that has raged deep into the winter in Michigan's frozen Upper Peninsula.

The first statement is made by Robert C. Polzin, president of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, in a formal request to the U.S. Department of Transportation to place the U. P. in the Eastern time zone.

The second is made by Kenneth O. Doyle, city attorney of Menominee, which is bitterly opposed to any change.

City Attorney Doyle said: "It would have a drastic effect on our economy and on our social climate as well. The claim by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce that they have obtained 9,000 signatures on petitions asking for a move into the Eastern time zone is hardly worth recognizing. This represents less than three per cent of the citizens of the Upper Peninsula."

TV Opposed

Elroy Strand, general manager of a Marquette television station and a strong opponent of a change in the time zone, said, "90 per cent of all of our warehouse distribution and delivery by common carriers comes through Wisconsin, which is in the Central time zone. A change such as is being promoted by the Marquette chamber would be detrimental to the economic growth of the Upper Peninsula and would certainly cause a great amount of confusion."

Strand said he has sent telegrams to Gov. Romney and the Department of Transportation, pointing out the close economic connection the U. P. has with Wisconsin, as well as Illinois and Minnesota—all of which are in the Central zone.

In an editorial Wednesday, the Menominee Herald-Leader said, "The Marquette Chamber of Commerce has appointed itself spokesman for the entire Upper Peninsula in the matter of determining what time zone we are in."

"... It appears that Mr. Polzin is saying a great deal with very little to back him up. The Marquette chamber has circulated petitions opposing Central Standard Time and has obtained 9,000 signatures. There are 305,000 people living in the Upper Peninsula, so what Mr. Polzin is really talking about when he says 'the people of Upper Michigan' is less than three per cent of the population."

Council To Act

The Menominee Area Chamber of Commerce has called a special directors meeting to consider opposition to Marquette's move. The Menominee City Council is expected to go on record at its Monday night meeting in opposition to the move.

"I'm convinced that the people who signed those petitions did not know they were advocating a time zone that would require moving the clock ahead two hours from where it is now," Strand said. "If the Department of Transportation were to place the Upper Peninsula in the Eastern time zone, it would mean moving clocks ahead one hour when the change was made and another hour on April 27, when the time is normally changed."

Whirlpool Hikes Product Prices

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — The Whirlpool Corp., a home appliance manufacturer, has announced it was increasing the prices on "almost all products" effective Feb. 1.

The firm said Thursday the increases would be made on a selective basis rather than across the board but declined to reveal any figures on the price change.

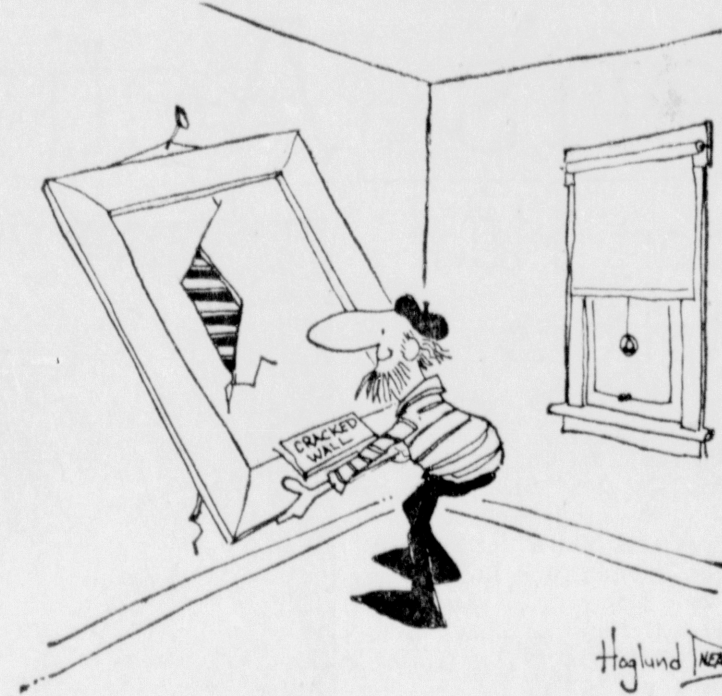

A source close to the firm, however, said the increases would range from 1 per cent on some products to just over 3 per cent on others.

Robert L. Brintnall, Whirlpool's director of merchandising said the price hikes were required by the increased cost of labor, materials, greater taxes and freight rates.

UAW Sponsors Adult Schooling

DETROIT (AP) — Enrollment for Detroit-area residents who wish to complete elementary or high school will be held this month under a program sponsored by the United Auto Workers education department and Detroit Public Schools.

Free classes are held in UAW halls and other locations throughout the area. The program is entering its second year.

Repairing plaster walls is not difficult.

Repairing Plaster Isn't Big Problem

Houses settle, furniture is shoved against walls, children bang against the wall with their toys. Whatever the reason, a lived-in house will soon reveal minor cracks in plaster walls and even larger ones.

Repairing plaster walls is not difficult. The tools you will need are few and inexpensive. For minor patching, a putty knife will do along with a plaster in which to mix the plaster. For larger holes, you will need a plasterer's steel trowel. There is a crack-cutting tool available for undercutting edges of larger openings, but a beer can opener will do just as well. A small, clean paintbrush is handy but not necessary for cleaning out dust, then wetting down the area to be repaired.

For small holes, such as those left by picture hanger nails, and for fine cracks use a prepared spackling compound or crack filler. This is available dry for you to mix with water or in a paste form that is ready to use. This dries more slowly than plaster but it is easy to handle and has good adhesion even when applied in thin layers.

For larger holes use patching plaster which is available in small as well as large quantities. Plaster of paris can be used but this will not provide you with much working time. When repairing fine cracks and small holes, first brush out all dust and loose material. For a small hole just a single, generous application of spackling compound is needed. Smear it over the hole and then use your putty knife. Hold it almost flat against the hole and stroke the knife back and forth to fill the opening and smooth it. Wipe off excess compound from the knife.

Larger cracks and holes will need more preparation. Chip out all loose material. Undercut the edges of the opening so that the patch will not pull out. Wet the opening thoroughly before applying plaster. Fill halfway, allow to dry, then wet down again and make the final application. When that is dry, sand for a smooth finish.

An area where a big chunk of plaster has fallen out takes a little more work but can be repaired by almost anyone. Again clean out the opening of all loose and crumbly material. Undercut. Leave only sound material.

Wet down and apply plaster in layers, allowing each to harden before applying the next and wetting thoroughly in between. Press the first layer in firmly so that it works into the lath.

For large patches such as this you will need a trowel rather than a putty knife. For a glassy finish, wet the final coat after it has started to stiffen. Use a brush. If the hole has no backing, you will have to provide one. If the hole is large already, see how much more you would have to chip away to expose the wall studs. Then nail a plasterboard to the studs.

Another method is to stuff the hole with crumpled newspapers, using a big enough wad so that it will stay in place. Then slap a few globs of plaster on this and around the edges and let dry to form a plug for the new plaster.

San Francisco Hit By News Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco entered the seventh day of a newspaper shutdown with talks between the striking AFL-CIO Mailers Union and publishers in recess.

Negotiators in the dispute that closed the city's two major dailies—the independent morning Chronicle and Hearst's afternoon Examiner—parted Wednesday after meeting for an hour.

Don Smith, union president, said sessions could be resumed by either side.

Postal Address Service Starts

A new service making it possible for postal customers to get the new address for first-class mail that it forwarded went into effect this week, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien reported today.

First-class mail is forwarded at no extra charge when the addressee has left a forwarding address, but in the past there has been no provision for supplying the sender the new address. Under the new service the Post Office will, when requested, supply the sender the corrected address upon payment of a 15-cent fee.

To get the new service, O'Brien said, senders of first-class mail must write "Address Correction Requested" below the return address. Then, if the piece of mail is forwarded, a Post Office form showing the new address will be delivered to the sender and 15 cents collected.

The new service is part of a revision of address correction regulations and charges established under the new postal rate law.

O'Brien also reported that a new return service is available on third-class mail making it possible for third-class mailers to find out that their mail is undeliverable as addressed without having to pay the 15-cent address correction fee.

Undeliverable third-class mail marked "Return Postage Guaranteed" will be returned to the sender endorsed "Undeliverable as Addressed." The single-piece third-class rate — six cents for pieces weighing up to two ounces — will be charged for the return service.

Third-class mailers who want the new address or the reason why the piece is undeliverable will have to mark their mail "Address Correction Requested." They will be furnished the new address or the reason the piece is undeliverable and the 15-cent fee will be collected upon delivery of this information.

Fourth-class procedures are the same as on third-class, except return postage will be charged at the fourth-class rate rather than the third-class rate.

Bill Would Boost Fish Poacher Fine

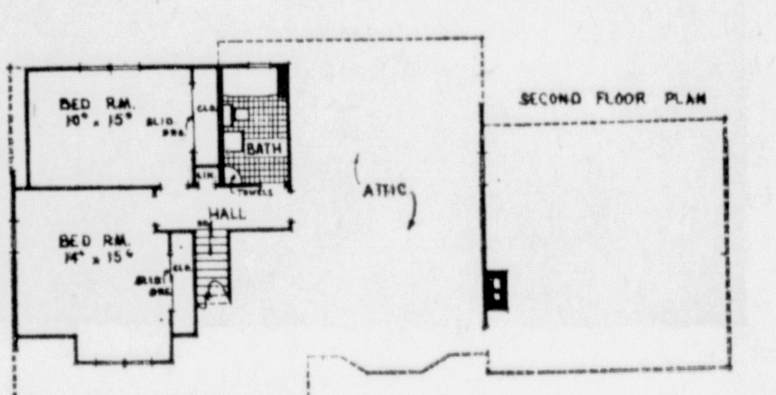

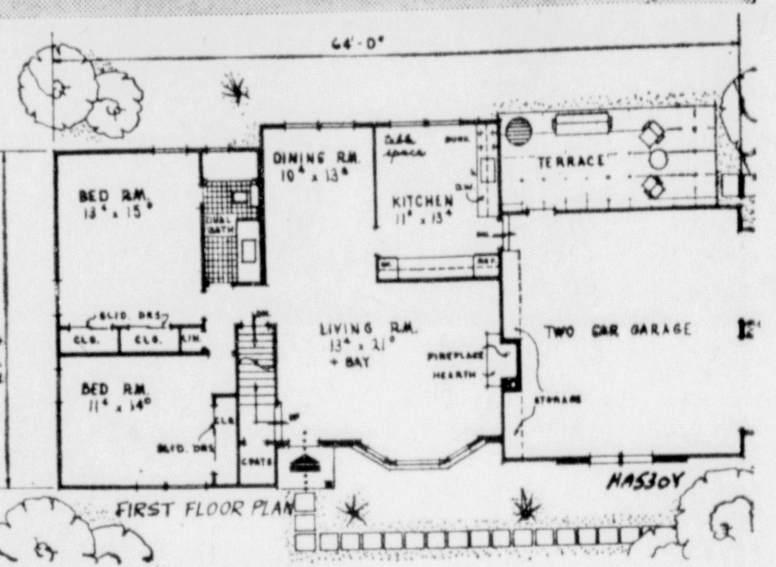

LANSING (AP) — An angler who hooks Michigan's bigger game fish illegally could end up with an expensive seafood dinner—maybe $10 per pound—under a bill introduced in the House Thursday.

Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, sponsored a measure to increase penalties for illegally taking trout, salmon, pike, bass, muskellunge and sturgeon.

The bill would provide an extra fine of from $5 to $10 per pound of poached fish with a $5-per-fish minimum charge. The money would go into the state fish and game fund.

Licensed commercial fishermen would be exempt from the proposed new sanctions.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THE CHARMING, HOMEY exterior of Plan HA530Y shows the broken, steep-pitched roofs so typical of the architecture of Early America. Brick is shown in the center section and in the massive chimney that pierces the garage roof. The living room has a fireplace on the far wall. On the front, there is a bay window. The dining room and kitchen are placed for maximum convenience. Two bedrooms on the main floor have double exposure. Bath has a door from the rear bedroom for added convenience. Attic floor has two additional bedrooms and an additional full bath. There is the possibility of development of attic space above the living room. Architect is Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432.

Gun Thefts Rise In Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP)—More hand guns have been stolen in Detroit since the July riot than during the entire year of 1966, police records indicate.

Police say 1,374 hand guns were reported stolen during 1967, 848 of them since July. During 1966, 812 of the weapons were reported stolen.

Records are not complete which might indicate whether thefts of shotguns, rifles and other weapons also were on the increase during the months following the riot. However, during the riot itself, police said, 2,498 rifles and shotguns were stolen.

Several of the thefts in and around the city have been large ones. Almost 300 weapons were stolen from an inner city gun shop early in September.

Early this week, three rocket launchers, 23 rifles and 28 automatic pistols were taken in a burglary from an Army Reserve armory in nearby Pontiac.

No suspects have been apprehended in either robbery. Police say that an extremely small percentage of stolen guns, less than 10 per cent, is ever recovered.

"The people involved are not very deeply motivated politically or racially," says Lt. William Rugh of the Detroit Police Department's breaking and entry squad.

Inspector James Bannon of the department's intelligence division says, "Naturally we are concerned whenever this quantity of weapons disappears." Asked if the thefts were being investigated with an eye toward preventing their use in any large scale urban disturbance in Detroit's future, Bannon replied it was "high on the list" of concerns.

State Police say it is primarily the responsibility of the intelligence division of the Detroit Police to keep tabs on where stolen guns are going, but add State Police intelligence was available to help.

The Pontiac armory burglary, since it involves U. S. government property, has attracted the attention of local police, the State Police and the FBI. None of the agencies has made any comment on the progress of the investigation.

Goal Post Hole Traps 10-Year-Old

FLINT (AP) — Ten-year-old Paul Bagwell of Flint Township was rescued Wednesday night after spending two hours wedged in an eight-foot-deep goal post hole. The 5-foot boy fell into the hole while playing in the schoolyard of St. Pious Catholic School. One of his legs became wedged against the sides and rescuers had to drill another hole through the frozen ground, then tunnel across to free his legs.

CONTEMPORARY RANCH: The crisp look of this three-bedroom house evolves from a harmonious combination of stone, brick and wood — its long roof lines, completely unbroken — its interesting windows — and the pierced brick garage wall.

Good Living In Long Ranch

By ANDY LANG

There are two kinds of families that want larger houses: (1) those who simply must have them because they require five or six bedrooms and (2) those who want them because they have a better living scheme in mind.

Bigger is not always synonymous with better. It is therefore important that an architect designing for group 2 devote special attention to the living areas of the house. Architect Lester Cohen has done just that in this latest House of the Week.

While the rectangular shape is a practical matter in a small house, since unbroken roof lines are the least expensive, Cohen has also used it here, believing that it provides the best opportunity for incorporating rooms that flow into each other. Thus, in this ranch house, we find the formal and informal living areas aligned to produce long expanses for easy living.

FLOOR PLANS: Deliberately designed to provide large formal and informal living areas, with the living room and dining room in an alignment similar to the family room and kitchen, this house utilizes all available space, skimping on unnecessary halls.

FAMILY ROOM: Snack table is only separation between kitchen and fireplaced family room, which have an over-all length of 33'. Door leads from family room to rear patio.

Z-23 STATISTICS

Design Z-23, a rectangular ranch, has a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, center hall, three bedrooms and two baths, with a habitable area of 1882 square feet. The service area includes a laundry, lavatory and mud room, off which are the two-car garage and a porch. A rear patio is accessible from the family room. Overall dimensions are 91' 4" by 32' 4", including the garage and the porch.

There is no wasted hall space and the bedroom sizes are moderate. Although based on a center hall plan, there are no excess halls. Traffic flows around the living areas directly to all other areas. Four entrances to the house — front door, patio door, porch and garage entries — all see to that.

To the right of the center hall entry, the living room and the dining room total 34', a fine size for luxury entertaining. The bay window area in the living room uses diamond-paned verticals for striking effect. The dining room windows are clear-paned fixed glass above, with awning type openings below. Notable in this entire arrangement are the several walls offering unbroken spaces for furniture placement. This is an especially desirable feature in a room that is square, like the dining room. The arch from the hall and the one to the dining room give a feeling of greater spaciousness to the living room, so that it gains visually as well as actually.

The family room and the kitchen, placed in line in the same way as the living room and dining room, is 33' long. To this must be added the laundry-mud room and a vestibule, adding nearly 8' to the length of this complex. The family room, with its window wall, corner fireplace and snack bar divider on the kitchen side, is what might be called an informal living room. The work space is easy to handle. Appliances and counters are just where the housewife wants them, and the proportion of counter area to work zone is excellent. The lavatory and the laundry are most convenient, and while the plans call for a full basement, no housekeeper wants to be running up and down all the time. There are storage areas in the tool closet in the adjoining two-car garage, the outdoor closet off the porch and the built-in cabinets in the laundry. With eight other closets, plus a master bedroom walk-in, storage is no problem in this house.

The three bedrooms are in the left wing. There is cross-ventilation in the master and second bedrooms. The third bedroom could be used as a den; its location is good for that. A stall shower bathroom is off the master bedroom, while the family bathrooms is divided, with a guest vanity with double basins at the entrance, and the tub and water closet beyond.

Design Z-23 is long, low and contemporary, with the previously-mentioned unbroken roof lines and highlighted by a long planter, a pierced brick garage wall and a pierced roof overhang at the dining room end. Its square foot area of 1882, excluding the service section and garage, provides plenty of room for the family that wants lots of space but is not excessively large.

Court Upholds Access To Wills By Newspaper

MUSKEGON (AP) — Circuit Judge Albert J. Engel, in a 9-page written opinion Thursday, ruled that a probate judge cannot prohibit a newspaper from inspecting wills filed in probate court.

The Muskegon Chronicle brought suit against Muskegon Probate Judge Robert A. Cavanaugh after the judge allegedly refused to allow a reporter for the paper to study the will of a citizen who had died. Cavanaugh's attorney, Harold Street of Muskegon, said an appeal would be filed.

In his opinion, Engel ruled that a reporter is "an interested person under state law and that a probate judge may not prohibit inspection into records enumerated in the statute."

Cavanaugh claimed "persons interested" were those who have a direct interest in a will or an estate. The paper said it was the first time in 110 years that its reporters had been denied access to a will.

Cattle Price Gains Expected

EAST LANSING (AP)—Prices for fed cattle probably will be up this year, compared with 1967, while dairy prices will be only slightly changed, predicts a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Dr. John Ferris says that choice steer prices should increase above the $26 averaged in 1967 because of the decline in nonfed cattle slaughter and a rising demand for beef.

"Placements of cattle on feed in the late summer and fall of 1967 were somewhat larger than anticipated and may keep price gains small," he adds.

Ferris says prices on slaughter cows and vealer calves will likely be steady to strong relative to the 1967 utility cows average price of about $18-$19 and choice vealers average price of about $35-$36 in Detroit. "The 1967 support rate of $4 per hundredweight on manufacturing milk will probably continue for the 1968-69 marketing year beginning April 1," he says.

Ferris predicts that in Michigan, sales of Class 1 milk should be maintained as in 1967, even though national consumption of whole milk has declined with an increased consumption of low fat milk and imitation milk products.

He adds that there will be a continued decline in the number of milk cows.

Slaughter cow prices and off-farm employment opportunities should remain favorable, causing a continued number of dairy farmers to change their work, he says.

Elderly Marquette Residents Robbed, Attacked In Home

MARQUETTE — Two elderly Marquette residents — Anna Johnson, and her brother, Oscar Johnson — were victims early today of an assault at the hands of a pair of men who broke into and ransacked their home and then left by the front door with money and jewelry.

City Police said Miss Johnson, who is 69, and her brother, 76, were grabbed and tied up by the burglars after they heard noises in the living room shortly before 3 a.m. They were grabbed when they left their bedrooms to investigate.

Both refused hospitalization, but told officers they would seek their own treatment later today if they felt it was necessary.

About $500 in cash kept in a box in a dresser drawer in Johnson's bedroom and an undetermined amount of jewelry belonging to Miss Johnson was taken. Police were late in arriving at the scene because the burglars had cut telephone lines in the area.

Police finally were notified by a neighbor, who drove to the police station.

Man Injured In Plant Blast

MENOMINEE — An explosion believed to be caused by an accumulation of fumes rocked the American Protein Co. plant here Thursday afternoon, seriously injuring Howard Nelson, 52, Menominee, the plant's superintendent.

Firemen said a flash fire followed the explosion about 3 p.m., and burned Nelson on his head, face, arms and hands. He was reported in serious condition in St. Joseph-Lloyd Hospital.

The blast tore out windows and doors throughout the fish meal processing plant which started operations here last May. Menominee police said the explosion rocked residential areas near the Menominee River.

David Isaacson, 29, Peshtigo, working with Nelson at the time of the blast, escaped unhurt, officials said. No other injuries were reported.

An investigation was continuing into the cause of the explosion. No damage estimates were available.

N. J. Commuter Crash Hurts 200

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A New York-bound rapid transit commuter train crashed into the rear of another at the height of the evening rush hour Thursday injuring some 200 persons. Eighteen required hospitalization.

There were no fatalities. The injured began jamming the Jersey City Medical Center shortly after the 5:15 p.m. collision which occurred just west of the Port Authority Trans Hudson (PATH) tubes station at Journal Square here.

Twenty-eight doctors were called in to reinforce the two normally assigned to emergency duty. Dr. Clifford Blasi, director of emergency facilities, said more than 200 victims were brought in. Most were treated and released.

19 Marines Dead In Nevada Crash

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (AP) — Three helicopters have been assigned to recover the bodies of 19 men killed in a Marine transport plane crash on a snowy, windswept mountain crag in desolate northeastern Nevada.

The Defense Department listed the number of victims at 19, reporting that a 20th man left the plane at Denver Wednesday before it began the last and fatal leg of a flight over one of the West's bleakest regions.

The 12th Naval District in San Francisco, supervising rescue operations, ordered the high-altitude 'copters to Nevada from El Toro Marine Corps base in Southern California.

One, reached Fallon, Nev., late Thursday, refueled, then flew to the Battle Mountain airstrip to await dawn before attempting to reach the scene of the crash on 9,978-foot Mt. Tobin.

Recovery Try Today
The Navy said the other two 'copters were held overnight at Sacramento, Calif., but would fly to Mt. Tobin at daybreak.

If the rocky, precipitous slopes of Mt. Tobin prove too difficult for the helicopters, plans were made to tackle the peak with motorized sleds. Failing at this, rescue mission spokesmen said the assignment would be turned over to ground parties.

Two searchers from the Federal Bureau of Land Management, Wally Swanson and Gene Corbridge, reached the fire-blackened fuselage Thursday afternoon after a perilous ascent.

They quickly located 12 scattered bodies and were sure that all the other Marines were dead in the snow.

An Air Force plane dropped food and sleeping bags and Swanson and Corbridge spent the night on the frigid mountain-side 32 miles southwest of Battle Mountain.

Burned To Crisp
They reported 22 inches of snow on Mt. Tobin, though in some areas near the wreck huge, jagged outcroppings stuck out above the snow.

Swanson and Corbridge, after climbing for six hours, reported the Marine C54 transport "burned to a crisp except the tail."

The plane was carrying a Marine combat team on a 10-day Western tour from Quantico, Va. En route to Seattle when icing on the wing forced the plane down, it crashed on its belly, then slid backward 400 feet into a depression where it burst into flame.

The Marine who left the plane when it stopped over in Denver was Cpl. Robert Beard 19. He and Miss Paula Davis were anxious to announce their engagement, and that fact saved him from being aboard the transport when it crashed.

The corporal said he got special permission to start his leave early when he heard the plane was leaving Quantico, Va., last Monday.

"I only had six days leave and was in a hurry to get home to become engaged," he said.

Suit Settled In Kidnaping

CHICAGO — A $1 million damage suit brought against Michael Reese Hospital by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fronczak, whose day-old son was kidnaped from the hospital has been settled out of court, the hospital has reported.

A hospital spokesman said the out-of-court settlement was reached last week and "part of the agreement is that no information would be released" concerning it. He said attorneys for the hospital could not divulge the amount of the settlement.

The abduction occurred Apr. 27, 1964. A woman in a nurse's uniform walked into Mrs. Fronczak's room on one of the hospital's maternity floors and told her a doctor wanted to examine the infant, then 37 hours old. She took the child and disappeared, and was never found.

Mrs. Fronczak is the former Dora Vukson of Wells. She and her husband in December, 1966, adopted a baby which they believe is their kidnaped son. The baby was abandoned in July, 1965, in Newark, N. J.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Nineteen head of cattle were killed Thursday when a power line fell across a fence. The line snapped under the weight of snow.

Emergency Number:

Dial 911 For Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. plans to establish a universal telephone number — 911—which will enable anybody anywhere in the United States to place an emergency call for help.

AT&T, which operates most of the nation's telephone companies through its wholly owned subsidiary, the Bell System, acted after government prodding, principally by the Federal Communications Commission.

Under the plan an individual needing assistance would dial 911. His call would be funneled to a central switchboard where police, fire department and representatives of other emergency services, such as medical aid, would receive it and make immediate arrangements to help.

Because nearly all of the telephone company central offices in the nation must be modified, complete nationwide introduction of the 911 code will take several years.

The establishment of a universal emergency number was recommended a year ago by a presidential crime commission. Top FCC officials began to demand action last November.

Jerry Cvengros, whose Escanaba football team was undefeated champion of the Upper Peninsula last fall, will be one of the featured speakers at the third annual Northern Michigan Football Clinic in Petoskey Saturday, Jan. 20. . . . Other coaches on the staff are Rollie Dotch of Northern, Ed Ferkany of Western, Bill Odykirk of Central and Elmer Eagle of Bay City Central High School.

Menominee Range Conference teams are taking turns knocking each other off this season. . . . Latest upset was Iron River's 60-49 victory over Stambaugh, the team that spilled highly regarded Iron Mountain last week. . . . The Redskins raced to a 27-11 lead in the first quarter and Stambaugh never recovered. . . . Crystal Falls and Iron Mountain lead the conference with 4-1 records.

Iron Mountain gained ground in both the Range and the Great Northern standings with an 88-74 decision over Kingsford as 6 foot 3 inch Brian Oulmette pegged in 14 field goals and six free throws for 34 points. . . . Rudy Steiner added 26 as the Mountaineers handed Kingsford its seventh straight setback of the season.

Channing gained revenge for its lone defeat of the season by trouncing Republic, 71-64, in a non-league tilt. . . . Bill Stephen led a balanced Channing attack with 18 points as the Raiders ran their record to 7-1. . . . He also hauled down 15 rebounds.

Pat Miller, Menominee's classy 6 foot 3 inch senior, boosted his career scoring total to 1,255 points by hitting 24 against Holy Name this week. . . . He is the top scorer in Menominee High School history and is only 13 points from the all-time Twin City career scoring record of 1,268 set by Bob Pecotte of Marinette Catholic Central a few years ago.

Hancock scored a Copper Country Conference upset by whipping highly regarded Dollar Bay, 86-71, reversing an earlier 57-53 setback. . . . The Bulldogs trailed by a 19-12 margin at the end of the first period but burned the laces with 30 points in the second frame enroute to their sixth victory in the state. . . . Rich Salani, who quarterbacked Hancock to a perfect football season last fall, led the Bulldogs with 33 points.

Coach Fritz Wilson's Houghton Gremlins also come up with a Copper Country surprise this week, spilling Baraga by a 75-65 margin as 6 foot 5 inch sophomore Barney Salo pumped in 25 points. . . . Baraga entered the game with a 6-2 record and was ranked fifth in this week's Associated Press Class D poll.

Marquette and Green Bay, arch rivals on the ice, will tangle in a United States Hockey League game at the Brown County Arena Saturday night. . . . The last time the teams met Green Bay won a double bill over the New Year's weekend. . . . The game is expected to be a sellout.

Loss Makes Martin Mad

By The Associated Press
Losing makes Slater Martin mad, so mad that he hasn't even around to see his Houston team lose Thursday night in the American Basketball League.

The Mavericks' coach watched his team sinking until 4:13 was left in their game against Denver at Houston when he got so angry at an official's call, he had two technicals called on him. Finally, the official, Doug Harvey, ejected the enraged coach, and he missed the end of Denver's 100-93 victory.

In other games, Pittsburgh stomped Indiana 138-115 for its 18th victory in 19 games, New Orleans trimmed Anaheim 131-124 in overtime, New Jersey hammered Minnesota 110-96 and visiting Kentucky nudged Oakland 110-106.

Martin, a star as a player with winning NBA teams, has had his troubles as a coach as Houston's record slipped to 15-26, only one game from the Western Division cellar.

Byron Beck's 20 points in the first half and Larry Jones' total 30 paced the Rockets, who remained only 3 1/2 games behind division leading New Orleans.

Host Pittsburgh strengthened its Eastern Division lead over Minnesota to two games with its third straight triumph. The Pipers, led by Charlie Williams' 37 points and Art Heyman's 25, turned a 28-all tie into a 68-58 halftime lead and never let up.

Doug Moe, who finished with 33 points, sent New Orleans into overtime at Monroe, La., with a basket with 14 seconds left for a 117-117 score. Moe then hit four quick points in the extra period and Anaheim never caught up.

New Jersey, playing at home, went ahead to stay 32-30 as Minnesota lost its third straight. Walt Simon led the Americans with 22 points.

Louie Dampier's four field goals in the final period helped break a last period tie that put Kentucky across. Darel Carrier led the Colonels with 32 points. Dampier added 26.

Flying Frenchmen Extend String In National Hockey League Race

By The Associated Press
The Flying Frenchmen finally have hit their stride—and it's Allez-Oop for Montreal in the National Hockey League chase.

Jean-Claude Tremblay, Yvan Cournoyer and Jacques Lemaire scored Montreal goals less than 3 1/2 minutes apart Thursday night, pacing the Canadiens to a 4-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

The victory extended the Canadiens' unbeaten streak to eight games and sent them into third place in the NHL's East Division race. Mired in the division cellar two weeks ago, they have won six—including their last four in a row—and tied two to climb within five points of front-running Chicago.

Not Enough Practice?

Rauch Keeping Eye On Clock, Weather

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Now that John Rauch has the weatherman on his side, he's become a clockwatcher.

The Oakland coach is concerned that his Raiders might not have enough time to properly prepare for Sunday's Super Bowl date with the Green Bay Packers.

The Raiders worked for 90 minutes in bright sunshine Thursday, a distinct change from the driving rainstorm they practiced in the day before.

"This is more like the kind of weather I expected," said Rauch, enjoying the shirtsleeve climate.

"Our problem now is having enough time to get all our work completed. Preparing for a team like the Packers isn't the easiest thing in the world to do," Rauch continued. "The rain didn't help."

Oakland ran through a spirited, tough practice Wednesday but it was necessarily limited by the storm. "We got the most out of it we could in view of the conditions," said Rauch.

Thursday's sunshine was a welcome change and the Raiders ran through their final full drill in pads.

"We'll taper off from now on," said Rauch.

Meanwhile, at Fort Lauderdale, the Packers drilled for an hour in their best workout yet.

"The sluggishness was gone," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "It was a real fine workout. We'll go for an hour again Friday and then maybe 10 or 15 minutes on Saturday."

Lombardi activated Dick Capp, a rookie linebacker and tight end, for Sunday's game. Capp, who played in two of Green Bay's 14 regular season games, thus qualifies for a cut of the Super Bowl payoff. He'll get just over $2,000 if the Packers win and a little more than $1,000 if they lose.

A full winning share, of course, is worth $15,000 per man with losers collecting $7,500 each. At those prices, neither coach sees any problem in getting his team up for the game.

The Raiders might be expected to get up for the game but what about the Packers, who've won so often and for so long? Lombardi just smiled.

"If a man makes a million dollars," the Packer boss said, "he wants to make two million. We'll be up."

Red Wing Rally Barely Misses

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings' come-from-behind effort to snatch victory from impending defeat at the hands of the Boston Bruins almost succeeded Wednesday night.

It might have too, if it hadn't been for Bruin rookie Derek Sanderson, whose breakaway goal, his 14th of the season, midway through the final period gave the Bruins a 5-4 National Hockey League triumph.

Sanderson took a pass from Eddie Shack, who was flat on the ice at the time, broke in alone on the net and flipped the puck past goalie Roy Edwards.

Goals by Phil Esposito, his 20th and 21st of the campaign, and Skip Krake got the Bruins off to a 3-0 lead early in the first period.

Detroit's Norm Ullman made it 3-1 before intermission.

Then, after Kent Douglas and Don Awrey traded second period goals, Ullman and Gordie Howe tallied within 67 seconds to tie it up. It was Ullman's 20th and Howe's 19th goal.

The victory pulled the Bruins within two points of the Eastern Division-leading Chicago Black Hawks, who were idle Thursday.

Scribe Goes With Pack In Sunday's Super Bowl

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — With all due respect to young Daryl Lamonica and his 30 touchdown passes that led Oakland to its first American Football League title, Sunday's Super Bowl game belongs to Bart Starr and the proven old pros from Green Bay.

In the last go-round of a long, long season, the old hand-picker has to go with the Packers to make it two in a row for the National Football League over the AFL champs. Let's take a shot at the score:

Green Bay 31, Oakland 16.

If it's close, 40-year-old George Blanda and his ability to kick the long field goal could mean an upset victory for the two-touchdown underdogs from Oakland. But that would mean that Oakland must be able to clamp down on Starr and his wide receivers—Boyd Dowler and Carroll Dale—while cracking the stubborn Packer defense.

Oakland does not appear to have the man-for-man talent of the Kansas City Chiefs, who fell before the Packers last year 35-10. Still, the Raiders must have a better over-all team because they marched through the AFL with a 13-1 record and beat Kansas City twice, 23-21 and 44-22.

Johnny Rauch's Raiders led the league in total defense and rushing defense and were first in scoring with 468 points. Their offense was third in average yardage, both running and passing.

Green Bay was ninth in the NFL in total offense, second in running and 11th in passing. It was first in total defense, 13th (an amazing figure) in running defense and first in pass defense.

Although the Packers allowed an average of 137 yards per game on running during the regular season, they gave up but 11 touchdowns on the ground and 13 in the air for a total of 24. The Raiders, who scored 58 touchdowns to 39 for Green Bay, yielded 29 in all, 11 on runs and 18 on passes.

But all of this presupposes that the competition is equal, and the figures do not back that up. The Packers did win the first Super Bowl and the NFL did take 13 of 16 pre-season exhibitions.

Starr, a 33-year-old veteran of 12 pro seasons, has been here before. He proved his cool once again on that frigid New Year's Eve in Green Bay when he sneaked home from the one for the winner with 13 seconds to go. Although he was below par in early season and was intercepted nine times in the first two games, he closed strong.

Starr is a past master at probing a defense and finding the holes. If the defense shuts out Dowler and Dale, he will go to Donny Anderson and Chuck Mercein.

Lamonica, 25, in his fifth year, actually is completing his first as a No. 1 quarterback. He had a great year with 30 touchdowns and 220 completions in 425 attempts. He was intercepted 20 times to Starr's 17. It remains to be seen how he will react to the Packer rush and how skillful he will be in working on the strong Green Bay linebackers with his passes.

Billie Jean Top Woman Athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Billie Jean King, the bouncy, outspoken housewife who reestablished America's supremacy in women's tennis, beat out golf queen Kathy Whitworth and figure skating champion Peggy Fleming in being named the Female Athlete of the Year for 1967 today.

In a vote of 372 sports writers and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press poll, Mrs. King, from Long Beach, Calif., drew 196 first-place votes and 854 points.

Miss Whitworth, the leading female athlete in 1965 and 1966, had 70 first-place votes and 523 points while the 18-year-old Miss Fleming was third with 43 votes for No. 1 and 392 points. The points were awarded on a basis of three for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Canada's Nancy Greene, the sensation of the skiing season, placed fourth followed by 15-year-old Debbie Meyer, the world's outstanding freestyle swimmer.

Mrs. King, using a new-fangled steel racket, won the Wimbledon and U.S. championships, and clearly gained the No. 1 spot in the world rankings. In both tournaments, she won the singles title by defeating Ann Haydon Jones of Britain in the finals, 6-3, 6-4 at Wimbledon and 11-9, 6-4 at Forest Hills.

Faculty Game Set Jan. 25 At Escanaba

The fifth annual Escanaba-Holy Name Faculty basketball game will be played Thursday, Jan. 25, starting at 8 at the Escanaba High School gym.

Tickets are being sold by members of the 1967 Eskymo football squads and will also be sold at the gym the night of the game. Proceeds are donated to the school's athletic fund.

Holy Name holds a 3-1 edge in the series after Escanaba won with a final-second field goal last year.

A preliminary game will begin at 6:30.

HN Wrestlers Will Perform At Halftime

Members of the Holy Name High School wrestling team will put on an exhibition during halftime of tonight's basketball game with Gwin.

Holy Name's grapplers will compete at home twice next week, hosting Kingsford Monday and Iron Mountain Wednesday. Preliminary matches start at 6:30 with varsity matches at 7.

Maravich Ignores Fouls To Register 52 Points

By The Associated Press

Ron Draper and Pete Maravich both faced pressure foul situations. Both came through.

Drake's Draper was at the foul line for two free throws with one second left and the Crusaders tied 74-74 with Wichita State Thursday night.

He missed the first one but made the second, and Drake won its 11th game in 13 starts.

It was the other side of the coin for Louisiana State's Maravich, who played most of the second half against Tulane facing disqualification because he had committed four fouls.

But this didn't seem to greatly impede the helter-skelter style of the nation's leading major-college scorer. He poured in 52 points as LSU beat Tulane 100-91 at New Orleans to boost its record to 9-3. Maravich has scored 540 points in those 12 games for a 45.8 average.

Trio Is Found Not Guilty

Justice Court convictions of a Manistique man and two Manistique youths were reversed Wednesday in Circuit Court.

Laverne Brown was charged with giving alcoholic beverages to two minors, Donald A. Hicks, 19, and Homer D. Joslyn III, 17, while transporting them in Manistique to friends to get a jack to change a tire on Joslyn's car. Hicks and Joslyn were charged with minors in possession. All were arrested Oct. 10.

Judge George Baldwin dismissed charges against Brown after a defense motion as the prosecution rested its case. Brown, Hicks and Joslyn testified on their own behalf Wednesday afternoon. The not guilty verdicts were returned by the jury after about 90 minutes of deliberation.

U. S. A. Heggblom was the defense attorney. Prosecutor was Gottfried S. Johnson. The cases were tried jointly.

MANISTIQUE

Miss Clark Is Bride Of James F. Taylor

Miss Jan Karen Clark became the bride of James Francis Taylor in First Presbyterian Church, Marquette, on Nov. 22. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Kenneth I. Clark, 714 N. Seventh St., Marquette, and the late Mr. Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Taylor, Manistique.

The Rev. William T. Payne officiated in the 7:30 p.m. double-ring ceremony during which the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Daniel J. Clark of Marquette.

Miss Paula Sue Normand, Marquette, was maid of honor, and bridesmaid was Miss Barbara A. Taylor, Manistique, sister of the bridegroom.

Attending the bridegroom were William C. Matthai, Wauwatosa, Wis., as best man, and Steve Gurchinoff, Iron River, groomsmen. Lynn Devenport, Marquette, and Jeffrey TenEyck, Big Bay, were ushers.

The bride's floor-length tent gown of pure silk organza was fashioned with shallow scoop neckline and long sleeves. Pearl de soie bordered the hemline of the gown and long train, which was attached at the shoulders with self bows and was also trimmed with cluny lace.

Matching appliques of lace were also placed at the gown's neckline and down the front and were scattered over the skirt. Her bouffant veiling was caught to a matching head piece.

The bridal attendants wore matching long sheaths fashioned with Empire bodices of moss green, short sleeves, detachable

Auto Production Rises This Week

DETROIT (AP)—Automobile production increased 22 per cent this week over the first week of January as the industry scheduled 193,575 cars for production.

Last week, 158,443 automobiles were produced, giving a total year's output of 352,018, compared to 312,124 for the same period in 1967, the trade publication Automotive News reported Thursday.

Ford Motor Co. scheduled Saturday work at 13 plants.

Truck completions this week totaled 36,342, compared with 29,211 last week and 37,465 in the corresponding 1967 week. This year's count climbed to 65,553, compared to 67,155 for the same 1967 span.

GLADSTONE Ski Park Opens This Weekend

The Gladstone Ski Park, it's hills in "pretty good" condition after recent snowfalls and a previous packing effort by snowmobiles, will open for the season this weekend. Walter Palmquist, Gladstone Ski Club secretary, announced today.

The park will be open from 1 to 4:30 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday and also Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Palmquist said that although snowfall has not been great, 18 snowmobiles were used on the hills by club members and other area residents to pack a base before the last snowfall and that the slopes are rounding into condition.

Last fall, a bulldozer was used for two and a half days reworking all of the hills and also building up landings on top of the hills as a safety precaution, Palmquist said.

The "Bowl Tow" was taken

Stockholders Of Bank Meet

At a dinner meeting held for the stockholders of the First National Bank at Manistique President Fred H. Hahne reported new records in assets. Total assets as of December 30, 1967 reached $8,337,781.06 compared to $7,138,394.53 at the end of 1966. Deposits reached a record total of $7,832,037.85 compared to $6,646,508.13 on December 31, 1966.

In reviewing the Income and Expenses President Hahne reported that the largest item was the payment of Interest on Certificates of Deposits and Book Savings Accounts which amounted to $162,396.22.

Hahne reported that the bank continues to pay the Intangible Tax on all deposits.

"As we look back on our many years of service to this community, we are indeed proud of the part we have played in helping to build the community that we know today."

"As we look ahead, we face the future with confidence and pledge to our community our full co-operation in helping to build a community where people like to live and do business," he said.

Hahne expressed to the stockholders and customers, directors, officers and staff appreciation for the help and support that they have so generously accorded the bank.

Firm Protests Diet Pill Raid

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The U. S. Food and Drug Administration was acting "apparently under pressure from Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan" when it seized an estimated $200,000 worth of reducing pills at Western Research Laboratories, Inc. the president of the firm charged.

Hart is chairman of a Senate subcommittee which plans hearings into the diet pill industry later this month.

"This slam-bang attack by the FDA was timed to provide the Senate group with evidence and publicity in support of a pre-conceived point of view," said Leonard C. Tobin, Western president.

"The impounded drugs are not dangerous when used properly by a prescribing physician and are available by prescription only. The FDA has never produced evidence that the drugs are dangerous," Tobin added.

The FDA complaint said the drugs, seized last Friday, were improperly labeled and dangerous.

The FDA said it would have no comment on Tobin's statement that it had acted under pressure from Hart.

Tobin said Western Research Laboratories is one of more than 50 firms making some of the drugs—thyroid tablets and a combination of thyroid and digitalis.

"If these drugs are dangerous, then there are hundreds of millions of them available at this moment, nationwide. Yet today, six days after raiding us like gangbusters, the FDA has failed to initiate any action against any other manufacturer and no warning has been issued to physicians," he said.

Winter Sports

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Tourist Council at Lansing says it is offering free copies of Michigan's 1967-68 winter sports map, showing the locations of 83 state ski, skating and tobogganing areas.

AMERICA'S FIRST CHOICE IN TAPE RECORDERS

Sonomatic 900-A

The Sonomatic 900-A solid-state battery/AC portable recorder is as amazing as it is economical. Choice of power — plug-in, 4 flashlight batteries — or its own accessory rechargeable battery power-pack. Automatic Recording Control guarantees perfect recordings every time without touching a knob.

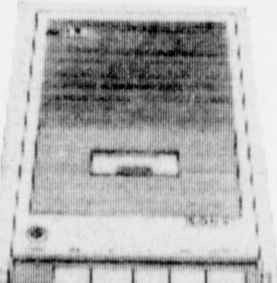

Sony Solid-State 4-Track ServoControl 864

The 4-track ServoControl battery-operated portable tape recorder by Sony. Incredible timing accuracy, four-track monophonic operation doubles your recording or playback time, 2 speeds, Sony's Automatic Recording Control for perfect recordings. Instant switching from battery to plug-in power without adapter. Complete with remote stop/start dynamic microphone.

Easy-Matic model 100 CassetteCorder

Tape the easy way with Sony's solid-state, Easymatic CassetteCorder! Here's the "anytime-anywhere" recording way to go. Simply press the button, snap in the Sony tape cassette and tape up to 120 minutes. Press the button again . . . out pops the cassette ready to reload. What could be easier?

Solid-State Sonomatic 105

The Sonomatic 105 is about the highest-fidelity mono recorder around. And it's got features like Sonomatic ARC (Automatic Recording Control). Retractable Pinch Roller for almost automatic threading, 3 speeds, 4-track recording playback, pause and tone control and 10 watts of Sony playback power. Complete with F-96 dynamic mike and personal earphone.

Sony 350 Stereo Tape Deck Recorder!

Connect the Sony 350 Stereo tape deck recorder to your system, and you'll instantly add professional-quality tape recording playback. Solid-state recording amplifiers and playback pre-amplifiers, 3-head design for sound-on-sound and tape source monitoring professional-type controls.

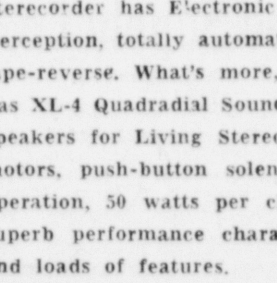

Sony 530 Stereo Tape System!

The power rating is only the beginning of the quality rating stereo lovers are giving the solid-state 530 stereorecorder by Sony. This complete tape system features XL-4 Quadraxial Sound for Living Stereo, three speeds, professional-type controls. Frequency response of 30-18,000 Hz.

660 Stereorecorder with E.S.P. Tape-Reverse!

Yes, the Sony solid-state 660 Stereorecorder has Electronic Sensory Perception, totally automatic tape-reverse. What's more, the 660 has XL-4 Quadraxial Sound 4-way speakers for Living Stereo, 3 motors, push-button solenoid operation, 50 watts per channel, superb performance characteristics and loads of features.

Sony's "All-in-One" 230W, Stereo Tape Console

Here is the superb "230" stereo tape system enclosed in oiled walnut with two full-frequency dual speaker systems. Add your choice of record player and tuner, then enjoy the versatility of the Sony-exclusive Stereo Control Center with 20 watts stereo power amplifier with two Sony F-45 Cardioid Dynamic Microphones.
